Developmental Clinic

Bloomsburg University, in keeping with its public service mission, offers a wide variety of educational and recreational opportunities to the regional communities it serves, including summer sports camps and weekend sports clinics. The university takes pride in presenting its annual Huskies’ Developmental Baseball Clinic.

The clinic consists of separate hitting and pitching/catching sessions. Hitting will be offered in the morning with pitchers/catchers in the afternoon.

2003 Clinic Staff

MATT HANEY — CLINIC DIRECTOR

Haney is currently in his 13th season in charge of the Bloomsburg University baseball team with an overall record of 271-253-2. Before becoming the head coach, Haney served two years as an assistant coach with the pitching staff as his main responsibility.

PITCHING

Chris Coombe, a collegiate first team All-American with two years of minor league experience, begins his second year as pitching coach for the Huskies. Coombe’s expertise will enhance your experience at these clinics. Coombe will be assisted by the Huskies’ pitching staff.

How it Works

The baseball clinic is open to ballplayers ages seven through senior year of high school. Each session will begin with a stretch and warm-up period. Players will subsequently be broken into appropriate age groups and paired with a member of the 2003 Huskies’ baseball team who will serve as a group leader/instructor.

About Bloomsburg University

Bloomsburg University, one of 14 universities in the State System of Higher Education, is a multipurpose institution with 83 programs of study. Situated on 282 acres with 55 structures and 7,500 students, Bloomsburg is the largest university in northcentral Pennsylvania.

With a commitment to provide a quality, affordable education for all qualified students, Bloomsburg combines the tradition of an institution founded in 1839 with modern learning, living, and recreational programs and facilities.

The campus overlooks the Town of Bloomsburg and the scenic Susquehanna Valley. Carver Hall, built in 1867, provides a contrast with the modern facilities that include seven residence halls, a library, a 2,000-seat auditorium, student union, dining hall, gymnasium, administration building, six classroom buildings and a new recreational center for student use only on the lower campus.

An athletic and recreational complex occupy the school’s 197-acre upper campus, in addition to a residence complex that provides housing for 384 junior and senior students.

Bloomsburg University alumni number over 38,000 and live in every state and many foreign countries. While the average participation for similar institutions in alumni fund raising is about 15%, Bloomsburg alumni support the university at a rate of 17%.

Bloomsburg is committed to affirmative action and equal opportunity. Minorities, women and other protected class members are urged to pursue educational and employment opportunities at the university.
